The hidden Rhinoceros

Creation 2007

Santiago, Chile

A metallic Rhinoceros, that had run away from Africa, appeared one morning from the copper mines of Chile.

Distraught by the size of the machinery and the giant trucks, he scoured the countryside until one day, exhausted; he hid in the streets of Santiago causing some damage.

The Little Girl-Giant, well known to the Authorities for her adventures in Europe, was called upon to capture the animal.
